

SECRET DIVORCES FIND NO FAVOR WITH JUSTICES

Disclosures in Kahn and Roosevelt Cases Likely to Suppress Quarantine.

Steps to abolish "Rule 76," which makes all divorce papers secret in the Supreme Court, probably will be taken as a result of the disclosures made yesterday that official records of the Court were juggled to hide the fact that Mrs. Lucille G. Kahn had brought suit on March 30 for a divorce from Rudolf H. Kahn, banker and broker.

Mrs. Kahn is a niece of Benjamin Guggenheim and grand-daughter of James Seligman. Her husband is a cousin of Otto H. Kahn of the firm of Kahn, Loeb & Co. Both are socially prominent, as were Mrs. Edith B. Roosevelt, whose suit for separation from John E. Roosevelt was hidden in the Supreme Court until an accident revealed its existence.

In the Kahn case, it was pointed out to-day, the fact of the appointment of Philip J. Dunne, as referee to determine the action in secret was even withheld from the Law Journal, official organ of the Supreme Court. This bit of suppression it was pointed out was a most serious breach of the court rule.

Supreme Court Justice Delehanty, who signed the reference order, said today that if the order was not published in the Law Journal, as it should have been, some one was guilty of gross negligence or deliberate suppression, since he made no order forbidding publication of the reference in the official paper. Since his appointment to the bench Justice Delehanty has shown his opposition to secrecy in divorce proceedings by permitting the inspection of papers in such actions.

Two other judges who asked to have their names withheld were outspoken in favor of the abolishment of the "Quarantine," as Rule 76 is termed. They both stated that if they had their way there would be no secrecy about divorce proceedings, and "then poor litigants would have an even break with the rich divorce seekers, who invariably invoke all the agencies of secrecy to obtain a quiet end to their matrimonial affairs."

"Secrecy of this kind," said one of the Justices, "presents too many opportunities or temptations for clerks and others who handle the papers. Secrecy is one thing that should be prevented in divorce cases, where there is most always an intimation of collusion—a thing we try to prevent in matrimonial actions."

James McNeirney, who has been clerk of Part Two, Special Term, for many years had charge of the reference order which Justice Delehanty signed in the Kahn case. When he was asked to-day to explain how it was not published in the Law Journal Mr. McNeirney said undoubtedly it was a mistake.

U. S. TROOPS KILL BANDIT CERVANTES, VILLISTA LEADER

Outlaw Pursued and Shot After Surprise Attack on Engineers Near Cruces.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, near Nampiquia, Mexico, May 25 (via radio to Columbus, N. M., May 26).—Candelario Cervantes, the Villa bandit leader, was killed by American troops south of Cruces to-day.

Another Mexican, Jose Bencomer, and an American, Corporal David Marksbury, were killed. Two Americans, Privates George F. Nicholson and George Hullett, were wounded.

Cervantes' end came after he had made a surprise attack south of Cruces on a detachment of engineers repairing the motor truck road. He was beaten back and pursued into the hills by the engineers, who had been reinforced by a detachment of the Seventeenth Infantry.

CARRANZA SOLDIERS ATTEMPT TO CUT OFF U. S. TROOPS' SUPPLIES

COLUMBUS, N. M., May 26.—Americans recently have encountered a spirit of animosity on the part of the soldiers of some of the Carranza commands along the American line of communication in Mexico, according to stories brought here to-day. Near Nueva Casas Grandes, 120 miles south of the border, barbed wire barriers have been thrown across the road several times recently, and last Wednesday a train commanded by Capt. R. B. Harper was halted by a crowd, in which there were a number of Carranza soldiers.

The mob jeered at the Americans and threw stones at them, but no shots were fired. Although several stones struck members of the truck crew, orders were given to proceed without retaliation.

Fusion Proposes San Antonio for Court Martial.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Gen. Fusion recommended to the War Department to-day that Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., be the place for holding the court martial of 116 Texas militiamen who failed to respond for submitted for border duty. He also submitted a list of regular army and militia officers to constitute the court. President Wilson is expected to take formal action in ordering the court at once.

NO PARTY CAN WIN ON WAR PLATFORM, SAYS JUDGE GARY

war and with the respect and confidence of all the European nations. We desire to have our Administration at Washington maintain a strict, by neutral attitude concerning the belligerent nations. When the war is over—and may a merciful Providence speed the day—we wish to be on terms of intimate and cordial relations with them all.

U. S. MUST PREPARE TO PROTECT HER COMMERCE.

"If the United States is to assume and maintain the important position among nations that has been thrust upon her she must be possessed of the same elements of power and strength that others have. She must be prepared to protect her commerce on the seas. She must be ready to support other nations in the insistence that the ports of all foreign friendly nations shall remain free and open to all. And, even more important to consider, we would be able to exert a powerful influence in aiding and even compelling international peace."

Judge Gary was insistent on the point that the United States should go back to the principle of a protective tariff to American manufacturing interests. He echoed the cry that the countries now at war in Europe will, at the cessation of hostilities, seek any market for their goods and "dump" into this country vast quantities of merchandise to be sold at prices destructive to our interests—unless we have a protective tariff.

There were almost 800 iron and steel manufacturers of the United States and Canada at the Waldorf-Astoria meeting and as the representatives of vast wealth they aggregated a staggering total. The annual dinner of the organization is to be held this evening.

Judge Gary said in part: "There are now confronting the people of this country certain momentous questions. They involve life, liberty and happiness. The first and fundamental essential to the welfare and happiness of all the people of this country is the economic conditions, though there are other things just as important to be considered. Prosperity should be fostered; business success, large business as well as small, should be protected, encouraged and assisted in every honest way."

"We have in this country perhaps two-fifths of the gold of all the nations. We have a decided advantage in farm and mineral production and it is constantly increasing. Now, while we have the kindest and friendliest wishes for all other countries, we believe that we should first protect and advance the interests of our own citizens, and then assist our neighbors across the seas, as our means and liberality may permit. We are naturally approaching the leading position among the nations of the world."

"We believe thoroughly in the regulation and restraint of business in such a way as to prevent harm and injury to the public interest; but we do not agree that the proper way to prevent harm is to destroy the agencies which may be and generally are utilized for the promotion of good. There has been in the past too much complaint and too much action that was based on mere theory. The Government and the business men should work in harmony with reference to these matters."

"The principle of protection to industry by means of tariff laws has built up the commerce and the wealth of this country and other producing countries that have had a surplus for export. Its value has been demonstrated. As between nations, it is simply a safe, sound, business proposition."

"The markets of the world are multiplying in number and increasing in importance. We are hoping for—may, expecting—open ports in every country. One reason for the limited amount of our export business in the past is found in the lack of ships owned, controlled and operated by Americans. When the present wars are ended these conditions will be even worse than they have ever been before unless there are adopted laws or amendments that will place our merchant marine practically on an equality with that of other nations."

"After the war is over the contending nations will be impoverished and in great need of business and money. They will produce as much as possible and their facilities are generally unimpaired. They will sell wherever they can find a market and at low prices. If necessary, including this country, if we are not protected against them; and we cannot sell in their countries, because they are and will be protected against us."

"We do not approve of suggestions occasionally made in the Congress of the United States, or elsewhere, that there is imminent danger of trouble with Japan."

"The thoughts of the multitudes are looking forward to the time and opportunity for the firm establishment of a basis for permanent peace. Our country would, if possible, exert an influence in this direction. We may be disappointed and conciliatory with our neighbors, but we will not sacrifice our self respect. It is no justification to offer the olive branch even if invited."

"It is not certain that there is a universal demand throughout this country for complete military preparation proportioned to its population and wealth, but it is certain that there are large and increasing numbers who are awake to the necessities of prompt, diligent and persistent efforts in this direction."

"The arguments in favor of a navy at least as good and as strong as that of any other nation and the adoption of provisions for the training, organization, equipment, and quick mobilization of an army, even up to a million or more men, are sound and convincing. It is always likely at present, if war should be thrust upon us and we were unprepared we would properly be charged with suicidal tendencies."

Blowing Up of Steam Shovel Battered Injures Four Others.

EL PASO, N. Y., May 26.—Two men were killed and four injured in the explosion of the boiler of a steam shovel on the Erie Railroad cut-off two miles from here to-day. The dead are William Van Rieck, forty years old, and A. Newton, both of Port Jervis, N. Y. The injured were taken to a hospital at Hornell, where it was said that the injuries of one would prove fatal. One of the dead men was decapitated.

Children Need A Warm Table Drink

Many parents understand that tea and coffee hinder mental development and body growth in their children, but are puzzled how to gratify the little folk's desire for a warm drink, without harming them.

For years now, in a considerable number of American homes, the problem has been solved by

Instant Postum

This pure food-drink is made of prime wheat, roasted with a bit of pure, wholesome molasses. It closely resembles the higher grades of mild Java coffee in color and flavor, has a delightful aroma, and is so pleasing that the older folks join the children in this wholesome beverage.

Where the rest of the family stick to coffee, Instant Postum for the children causes no extra work. A level teaspoonful in a cup with hot water and cream and sugar to taste, makes a delightful drink instantly.
